These are no doubt sufficiently correct for general calculations, and furnish curious results. It will be seen that the old states of Massachusetts, Georgia, Maine, and Rhode Island, have increased in a somewhat larger ratio than those of Kentucky and Tennessee. The Banks of Illinois, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Florida, have some years since gone into liquidation, and there is no provision at present for any similar institutions. No Bank can be established in Illinois without the assent of the people at large; the circulation of the state is mainly from the banks of Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio.

CHRONICLE OF EVENTS.

INCLUDING ALL THE RECENT POLITICAL CONVULSIONS, CHANGES, AND REVOLUTIONS ON THE CONTINENT OF EUROPE.

UNITED STATES.

JULY 18, 1848.—Wisconsin admitted as a State. AUGUST 13. A territorial bill passed for the government of Oregon. AUGUST 17. Destructive fire in Albany—600 buildings burnt—loss, $3,000,000. Shortly after, a similarly destructive fire in Brooklyn. During the last four years, more than 30 steamboats have exploded or been destroyed by fire on the rivers and lakes, involving the loss of hundreds of lives, and an immense amount of property. NOVEMBER 7. General Zachary Taylor elected President of the United States, and Millard Filmore, Vice President—defeating Generals Cass and Butler—also Mr. Van Buren, (free soil.)

1849.—Minnesota admitted as a territory of the United States. Gen. Smith made commander in California. General Z. Taylor inaugurated President, and Millard Filmore Vice President of the United States. Dreadful riots in New York and several persons killed, owing to a difficulty between two tragedians, Messrs. Forrest and Macready—and an opposition to any performance by the latter. Nearly 50,000 people emigrated from the Old States to California in search of gold.

MAY.—Dreadful conflagration at St. Louis—loss, 418 buildings, 27 steamboats, and 20 lives—in all $6,000,000 worth of property. Great inundation (May and June), at New Orleans, and a large amount of property destroyed. Cholera in all the large cities; at St. Louis, and Cincinnati, the deaths for two or three weeks averaged 150 per day. The pestilence spreads more or less over all the United States, producing a great mortality. Also among the emigrants to California.

JUNE.—Nearly $1,500,000 worth of gold dust received from California. The country laments the deaths of General Worth and Maj.-Gen'l. Gaines, of the U. S. Army, and that of James K. Polk, Ex-President of the United States. Dreadful riots in Canada, owing to a bill having been passed to pay 'for the losses incurred by the rebellion of 1837'—including the losses by the rebels themselves. On the bill being signed by the Governor-General, (Lord Elgin,) the British party conceived themselves outraged, and a mob in Montreal burnt the Parliament House and its noble library.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In 1848, there were many great Chartist meetings in England, and several partial insurrections, but all were suppressed without bloodshed. In Ireland, however, a rebellion was projected, and "monster meetings" of the disaffected were held, and in a partial outbreak at Ballingarry, headed by Smith O'Brien, blood was shed. Several of the rebel leaders were arrested, tried, and convicted of high treason. John Mitchell was transported to Bermuda; Smith O'Brien and others, after receiving sentence of death, were transported for life; many had milder sentences, others were liberated, and the attempt at rebellion was suppressed by the police force and coercive laws, without any military attack.

1849.—News received of a dreadful battle between the British and Sikhs, in India, in which the former, under Gen. Gough, were victorious, but with great loss. Mooltan captured by the British, with immense treasure, the citadel having been blown up by the besiegers. At the end of January another battle took place, in which the Sikhs were completely overthrown by Gough's army, and all their camp and artillery taken.

FRANCE.

For more than three years events had foreshadowed a convulsion—the prosecutions of the press by the Government—the Algerine war, now closed by the surrender of Abdel Kader, after many battles and massacres—the surrounding of Paris with fortifications, which cost £5,000,000 sterling, and the jealous measures of Louis

Philippe and the Minister Guizot, had all prepared the public mind for revolution. Louis Napoleon had escaped from imprisonment at Ham, after two unsuccessful attempts at revolt; there were poverty and suffering among the people, dreadful inundations in the south, attended with hundreds of deaths, and a loss of property to the extent of £4,000,000 sterling—failures, discontent, a partial famine, and a want of confidence. Meanwhile immense meetings, demanding reform, and particularly in the elective franchise, were held, and the Minister having resolved to prevent a reform banquet from being held in Paris, February 22d, 1848, a revolution broke out, a few hundred lives were lost, the national guards and soldiers fraternized with the people, the king and royal family, with Guizot, fled to England—all France adopted the example of Paris—a provisional government was formed, February 26th, with Lamartine at the head, who proclaimed "The French Republic, Liberty, Equality, Fraternity."

APRIL 23-24.—National Assembly of 900 elected by universal suffrage. MAY 4. National Assembly met. MAY 15. Revolt of workmen against the provisional government—the Assembly forcibly entered—revolt suppressed by the national guards. JUNE 22-26. A revolt of workmen, communists, and populace, who erected barricades—not suppressed until from 5,000 to 10,000 on both sides were killed—Cavaignac having headed the troops and preserved the government, was placed at the head of affairs, and Paris put under siege and martial law. The Assembly agreed on a constitution—a President of the republic to be elected. Louis Napoleon elected and inaugurated President of the French Republic. An expedition sent to Rome to aid the Pope, and to establish a government in Rome, with the Pope as chief.

AUSTRIA.

The spirit of reform and revolution had for several years gained ground in Austria. In 1848, the French revolution gave it impulse, and March 13, a tumult occurred at Vienna, which cost hundreds of lives to suppress. The Emperor granted reforms. (For Italian War, see Sardinia.) A congress of German deputies met at Frankfurt, March 31st. MAY 18.—German Parliament, sent by Austria and other states, met at Frankfurt; the Emperor went to Innsbruck; riot and slaughter at Prague, and June 12–15, that city bombarded—revolt there subdued. The Archduke, John of Austria, elected by the Parliament “Provisional and Paramount Head,” as “Lord Lieutenant.” JULY 12. Made “Regent of the Germanic Empire,” installed at Frankfurt, and named his ministers. AUGUST 12. Emperor returned to Vienna. Further dreadful tumults in the capital and other cities, and the Hungarian, Magyar, Slavonian, and Croatian subjects of the Empire rose against the Germans, fought several battles, and marched upon Vienna. The Ban (prince) of Croatia, Jellachich, supposed to be stimulated by the Emperor, refused to act. Insurgents in the city besieged by an Imperial army; the Slavonians, who came to their rescue, retired in October. The Frankfurt Parliament adopted a Bill of Rights, providing for the liberty of the subject, the press, religion, education, &c., to the fullest extent. The Slavonians favor a separate nationality. 1849.—The Emperor abdicated in favour of his nephew, Francis Joseph, who has agreed to grant a liberal constitution.—Several conflicts with the revolters in Hungary, with varied success. The Hungarians revolt, and the Emperor having solicited the aid of Russia, a Russian army is sent into Hungary against the Magyars, who defeat both the Austrians and Russians in several actions. The Hungarians declare their independence, and their parliament elect Kossuth as President, pro tem. The war continues.

PRUSSIA.

1848.—FEB. 3d. The king of Prussia granted a liberal constitution. MARCH 2. Promised freedom of the press. 13th to 19th. Dreadful riots in Berlin, barricades erected—King went to Potsdam—made further concessions—274 soldiers killed, and several hundred of the people. APRIL 3. Meeting of the Prussian Diet. MAY 22. Of the Constitutional Assembly. JUNE 16. A mob capture and pillage the arsenal—suppressed by the Landwehr, who demanded concessions, which were granted. 1849.—The king dissolved the Assembly, agreeing to a liberal constitution.

The German Diet elect the king of Prussia Emperor, who refused to accept, except on certain conditions. The Diet, or German Parliament, remove their sessions from Frankfort to Stuttgart, many members retiring.

SAXONY.

AUGUST 13, 1845.—A riot produced at Leipsic by the preaching of Ronge, religious reformer, and not quelled until 19 persons were killed and wounded by the troops under Prince John.

1848.—Disturbances—King of Saxony granted liberal reforms.

BAVARIA.

1847.—Lola Montes, King's mistress, unpopular—Riots—Freedom of the press and correspondence, and abolition of lotteries granted.

1848.—King abdicated in favour of his son, Maximilian—Riots—Liberal reforms.

HANOVER.

1848, MARCH 17.—Reforms, freedom of the press, &c., granted by the king.

DENMARK.

1848, JANUARY 20.—Christian VIII. died; Frederic VII. succeeded, and gave a constitution. MAR. 26. The duchies of Sleswick and Holstein revolted and joined the "Great German Nation"—Protected by Prussia, and several battles fought between the Danes and the combined Prussian and Hanoverian troops; thousands slain on both sides. The offer of mediation by England, caused a cessation of arms, but the Emperor of Russia insists on the duchies continuing with Denmark, while Prussia and the German Parliament wish otherwise. 1849.—The fighting between Denmark and Schleswig-Holstein and the Germans recommenced, and the Danes lost two vessels of war. Other conflicts with various success.

William II. of Holland died—succeeded by his son, William III.

SMALLER STATES.

1848.—Revolt, insurrection, and bloodshed prevailed throughout Germany. Many German princes recognised the German Parliament, and the King of Wurtemberg, Grand Duke of Baden, Elector of Hesse Cassel, Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, Dukes of Nassau and Saxe-Meiningen, and other heads of states, granted constitutions or reforms.

POLAND.

FEBRUARY 22, 1846.—Revolt at Cracow, defeated by Austrians and Russians, and Cracow awarded to Austria; great slaughter on both sides. Two insurrections since suppressed, and (1848) a large Russian army garrisoned in Poland.

SPAIN.

Several Carlist and republican insurrections, and changes of ministry, all attended with bloodshed, but the monarchy still maintained under Isabella II. In PORTUGAL, insurrection and civil war have been also frequent, but the kingdom is yet governed by Maria II. In SWEDEN, HOLLAND, and BELGIUM, reforms granted. RUSSIA and TURKEY, no changes; while all other nations of continental Europe are convulsed with revolution.

ITALY.—Sardinia.

Charles Albert, king, protests against Austrian intervention in affairs of Italy. Reform demanded of Austria in Lombardy and all northern Italy. 1848, JANUARY 1.—The tobacco riot at Milan. Austrian forces sent into Italy. King of Sardinia called out an additional 25,000 men. FEB. 8. Granted a constitution. All northern Italy protected by king of Sardinia, in revolt against Austria. MARCH 23. King of Sardinia declared war, and headed the Italian League. Several battles fought with various success; cities captured, but at length Radetzky, the Austrian General, regained the greater part of Austrian Italy, Venice included. Austrian losses (official), 2,701 men; Sardinian, killed and hors du combat, 16,000. France and England offer their mediation. Hostilities suspended. 1849.—The Austrians, under Radetzky, victorious. Austria regained most of her Italian possessions, and Charles Albert, king of Sardinia, abdicated in favour of his son, Victor Emanuel. Brescia captured; Genoa bombarded, and Palermo and Venice blockaded. Radetzky agreed to an armistice.

NAPLES.

1846.—Insurrections in Sicily. 1847.—Outbreak at Messina and Reggio suppressed, and 25 men shot. DECEMBER

15. Reform meeting fired upon at Naples. 1848.—Sanguinary riots at Messina. 12th. Rebellion at Palermo and other towns—People successful after great carnage. 19th. Concessions made by the king not satisfactory, and the town bombarded from the fort. 28th. A constitution signed by the king of the two Sicilies (Naples). FEB. 22. Messina expelled the royal troops, or drove them into the citadel. APRIL 13. Sicily declared her independence, and, JULY 10, Sicilian Parliament elected Duke of Genoa, King. Shortly after, a dreadful riot occurred in Naples, and a great number of citizens were killed by the troops. A force sent against Messina, which was bombarded and one-third destroyed, with great slaughter. Sicily still in revolt.

ROME, and Minor States.

In the Roman States, Feretti was elected Pope Pius IX., June 16, 1846—an attempt to revolutionize at Rimini and Ravenna having been subdued the previous year. 1847.—An insurrectionary feeling, and in 1848, open revolt. The Pope appointed a new ministry, and made many concessions, but the people seek to compel him to join the Italian League against Austria. The Grand Duke of Tuscany, and the Dukes of Lucca, (Lucca sold to Tuscany in 1847,) Parma, and Modena, after revolts and slaughter, granted concessions and constitutions to the people, and agreed to join the Italian League against Austria. 1849.—Revolt in Rome. Pope fled to Naples. Rome declared a Republic. Interference of France to restore the Pope at the head of a constitutional government. The French under Oudinot attack Rome, and are repulsed with loss.

Russian forces occupying part of the frontier provinces of Turkey. War expected.

MEXICO.

Peace was made February 2d, 1848—Mexico to receive $15,000,000, and to cede forever New Mexico, California, and Texas to the Rio Grande, to the United States, besides granting indemnity for the claims of United States citizens. Herrera elected President, and Bustamente defeated a new revolt under Paredes, at Guanajuato. Yucatan, after a short independence, reannexed to Mexico.

HAYTI.

A constant state of civil war. Solonque, President, chosen March 2, 1847.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

After a long blockade by the English and French fleets, much loss of life, and a furious war with Montevideo—the blockade was raised, and hostilities ceased. Rosas, President.

PERU (Gamarra, President), NEW GRANADA, (Mosquera, President), BOLIVIA (Bolivian, President), CHILI, (Bulnes, President), URUGUAY (Rivera, President), and ECUADOR, have all suffered from war and commotion. PARAGUAY has been pacific.

Several insurrections in BRAZIL, Pedro II. Emperor.

In VENEZUELA, several battles have been fought, and Paez, the President, expelled by Monagas. This civil war is still in progress.

1847, LIBERIA, Africa, a Republic.

1848.—Slavery gradually or suddenly abolished in the French, Dutch, Danish, and Swedish West Indies—but where suddenly, insurrection and bloodshed have occurred.

The Orleans Commercial Times gives the following interesting estimate of the value of the crops of the United States for 1848, and the sums invested in manufactures and merchandise; viz., crops, $591,400,000; manufactures, $343,300,000; merchandise, $322,000,000; and as the grain crops form a kind of basis for all other wealth, they are thus particularly given:—

Indian corn,.....	$141,573,000
Wheat,.....	63,514,000
Oats,.....	38,459,000
Rye,.....	9,322,000
Buckwheat,.....	4,557,000
Barley,.....	1,560,000
Rice,.....	3,031,000

Total,..... $262,016,000

The following extract will further assist in elucidating these important facts, which will repay the study of commercial readers generally, and particularly those connected with the United States:—

“The cotton and sugar crops may be estimated upon data

much more recent than the census statistics of 1840. Merely as conjectural, we adopt 2,400,000 bales of the one, and 250,000 hogsheads of the other, as the production of 1848. We also connect a number of miscellaneous articles in the statement:—

Cotton,.....	$64,800,000	Prod'ts of dairies..	$42,360,000
Sugar,.....	10,000,000	Do. orchards,.	9,070,000

Liquor do. 11,433,000	Mills, 82,322,000

Having shown the outlay, it is proper to notice the return from manufacturing operations, which is given, without method, in the following statement:—

Manufactures.	Value.	Manufactures.	Value.
Cotton goods,....	$57,537,000	Carriages,.....	$13,623,000

Besides the amount set forth, as constituting the commerce, or rather the retail trade, of the States, the sum of $149,000,000 is employed in the commission business and foreign trade—together making the sum of $471,000,000 in our commerce.

COINS OF THE WORLD, IN AMERICAN MONEY.

The following calculation, founded on the law of Congress of 1834, has been prepared expressly for this work, by M. T. Miller, Esq., of the Bank Note Exchange, 78 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

It is right to add, that the old par for a sovereign, &c., (prior to 1834,) namely $4 44 44, and the same for a pound sterling, is still the assumed base upon which foreign (English) exchange is calculated. The actual value, as affixed by Congress, has of course been preferred.

APPLETON'S GREAT CENTRAL
CHEAP BOOK STORE,

164 CHESTNUT STREET, CORNER OF SEVENTH,
UNDER BARNUM'S MUSEUM,
PHILADELPHIA.

THE stranger who tarries only for a day in the city, ought not to neglect to visit the GREAT CENTRAL DEPOT OF LITERATURE AND ART, and delight the eye and feast the mind with an examination of the countless volumes and works of art contained in this Storehouse of Knowledge. Here the visiter may spend his spare moments with profit and pleasure to himself. The array of authors on every known subject, will fill the mind with wonder and astonishment. The lover of History will find his beloved authors arranged under their proper head. The Theologian will find the works on Ecclesiastical Literature by themselves, so that all may wander through this Grand Depot and search from this extensive stock such books as they may want. The proprietor endeavours to keep his stock up to the present time, both in the selection of Books and the prices at which they are sold—so that all classes of the community may rest assured that they are selecting from the best assortment, and at the LOWEST PRICES.

The Amateur in Art will at all times find a choice selection of Engravings, from the burins of London, Paris, Munich, and Dresden.

Stationery will be found in every variety, and for sale in all cases at the LOWEST PRICES.
